School Report, 1930-31

To the Citizens and School Committee of Sidney:

I herewith submit my thirteenth annual school report of the schools for the year ending Feb. 10, 1931.

The school work this year has been uninterrupted by sickness or weather and we have had a very successful school year. The additional two weeks in the length of the year has been of great advantage to the pupils and I hope that we may soon adopt a school year of thirty-six weeks. To be sure this means an additional expenditure of approximately one thousand dollars annually, but I feel that the school program should meet the maximum requirements as to the length of school year and that we should not lose sight of this fact in our eagerness and zeal to foster a program for better roads.

The chief advantages of thirty-six weeks schooling are as follows: first, it places our children on an educational level with children of other towns; it enables a pupil to complete the required work in eight years which otherwise would take nine or ten years to do; and third, a school system of thirty-six weeks attracts a better class of teachers and we are able to retain these teachers for more than one year. I cannot over emphasize the fact that in this day and generation a boy or girl must complete the work at least through the high school in order that he may find adequate future employment.

This is a highly standardized industrial age. The young man or woman who does not fit himself for a special work must eventually join the ranks of the unemployed.

We are at present passing through an industrial crisis, accompanied by business depression, from which we shall soon merge, and rise to higher level. Competition will be keener, industries will become more diversified and complex, and the worker who enters these new fields must be fitted to cope with these new standards. Ambition, thrift and intelligence are the fundamentals which will insure a boy's future success. These three attributes are the foundation upon which the school system of today is founded.

The curriculum of the school has changed. No longer is a knowledge of local conditions and individual interests adequate to our needs. The radio, the automobile, the expansion and combines of business both at home and abroad, have opened up a world problem, which affects the whole life of our nation. It is now necessary that boys and girls in school become familiar with the people of other lands in order to shape their career in life so that they may adjust themselves to this ever changing social and economic life.

At the beginning of the fall term several changes were made in the location of schools and in teaching positions. The school building in the Clark district was so out of repair and so unsanitary in every respect that the committee together with a majority of the parents of this district felt that it would be for the best interest of the pupils to close this school and open a school in the Davenport district.

A meeting of the town was called and it was voted to make this change in the location. Minor repairs were made to the building and school opened in regular form September 9. This change in location necessitated a change in the conveyance. Thus the conveyance which last year carried pupils from the Davenport district to the Clark school, now conveys from the Clark district to the Davenport school. The cost of this conveyance is practically the same as last year and the number of pupils remain the same.

The school at Quaker Hill having automatically closed because of too few pupils, the committee did not deem it wise to have the school reopened. Therefore a conveyance was arranged to take these pupils to the school at West Sidney.

At the beginning of the fall term the following normal graduates were hired: Velma Pearson, Bacons Corner;

Louise Marr, Field school; Norman Wilson, Thayer Corner; Frances Lyman, Davenport school; and Annie Grant, Sawtelle school. Also Hazel Trask, West Sidney; Annie Davis, Cowan school; Marjory Bragg, Lewis school; and Jennie Williams, Town Farm school.

This group of teachers are deserving of much credit for their work and the effort they have put forth to make their schools a success. I wish to express my appreciation to them and to the many citizens and parents who have cooperated with us.

REPAIRS.

A number of the school buildings are in urgent need of repair. The building at the Town Farm needs a new ceiling and floor and the building should be painted both on the inside and on the outside. A new chimney is needed at the Lewis School before another year. The underpinning at the Field School should be relaid or more extensive repairs must be done in the near future. I would suggest that the citizens consider this matter carefully and make as liberal appropriation for repairs as possible.

This year the vaults and chimney were completed at the West Sidney school, a new floor was laid at the Sawtelle School and the building was painted both inside and out. I wish to thank the parents for the work which they contributed. Paper was bought for the Davenport School and the parents met and papered the room. Also a new stove was bought for this school. Minor repairs such as setting glass, replacing the outside steps in two schools and the banking and cleaning were attended to out of the regular appropriation.

It should be borne in mind that if copies are left at home there may not be sufficient number at the hall to go around on town meeting day. This year or any year it is desirable for you to have a copy of the annual report as soon as possible. It is also important for you to preserve it and bring it with you town meeting day.
